NPH INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION PHILOSOPHY

An NPH education embodies a holistic approach that empowers students to reach their God-given potential in mind, spirit and body. Guided by Christian values, NPH homes and schools offer a variety of quality educational and formational programs that serve individual needs of each and every student. At NPH we commit to educating underprivileged students from the communities we serve, we embrace the ideal of continual learning and growth, and strive to prepare our students to be compassionate, productive, and responsible community members.

The following principles inspire NPH faculty and staff in all our actions:

-  LOVE AND SECURITY: NPH ensures that children receive their universal right to education by accepting students' distinct learning needs and adopting a personalized, inclusive approach that recognizes past hardships and transforms them to fulfill their unique potential.
-  RESPONSIBILITY: NPH students proactively care for themselves, their NPH community, and surrounding environments by modeling the exemplary actions of NPH faculty and staff, demonstrating accountability for their work and actions, and living out Christian values.
-  SHARING: Inspired by our Catholic faith, NPH homes and schools promote an inclusive environment, free of any discrimination, in which children learn of and implement Christian values including service to those in need.
-  WORK: NPH empowers children to contribute to their communities in their unique way by promoting academic excellence, vocational training, internship and work experiences, and individual life planning that recognizes each student's individual needs.
-  FAITH AND SERVICE: NPH develops deliberate experiences in which students develop an awareness of the reality into which they were born and will live, put into practice their faith, and establish relationships in the communities they serve.

NPH envisions a world in which our students reach their individual potential to serve their communities, and recognizes that contributing productively to society depends on the unique abilities of each student. By focusing on our core principles, we ensure that each student follows their self-developed goals, which can include higher education, vocational training, or productive programs for students with special needs.

NPH students demonstrate a desire for being the best they can be: ethical, responsible, caring individuals who apply our core NPH principles to their everyday lives. NPH encourages its students to actively contribute to their communities, achieve their individual goals and live out their faith and values to the best of their God-given abilities.
